Mobile workers sometimes experience delays in the transmission of messages and other types of data, possibly due to service interruptions while out of the office. This delay is caused by a number of factors, such as network capacity, network congestion, and management of the transmission resources, such as the size of the buffers of the system nodes. The delay may be incurred in sending messages, accessing files, executing services, executing functions, etc. For example, the communication service of a certain mobile worker may be interrupted for a period of time when

This aint' no holiday for the kids. LOL! whew - I'm finally on my way home - will try to write from Florida, but my promise to you was to catch up on tonight's news first. The capital murder trial of Maurice Hill begins today in Mobile. He killed a couple and their two young daughters, then ate some of them. One of the victims died a week after the attack. He ate some of her heart. I'm glad you're home, and I'm looking forward to that cold beer. Hope you brought along some cigars
