VirTwiC Serial Key

The purpose of this project is to take the Twitter API and use it to fill in the GUI with tweets to display and add more features. This project is essentially a Twitter client... Hello there guys, you are all over here on my site, VirTwiC, and it's a twitter client that you can use to view your twitter feed, update your profile, tweet, and view some of the features. Not too many features, this is just an introduction to Twitter and what's available on the site. More features are coming soon. Please visit my website, VirTwiC.com to download it... If you are using Twitter, VirTwiC will show you the last 10 tweets from the home timeline and retweets. If you are not, and you want to try, this is the client for you. You can add more tweets from a list, a specific search term, an individual tweet, or you can select from all the tweets on the timeline. The interface is a bit crazy, because I just wrote it quick and decided it was a fun idea. I know you can do all of this with the API, but I didn't know how at the time I started. Please, if you have any comments, suggestions, or features you would like to see, please tell me. Fuzzy picture, but it does the job.
