Supporters and opponents of the Empower Pennsylvania Act, a bill that would allow college students to carry a concealed gun on campus in Pennsylvania, are at odds over the efficacy of the legislation. The bill, which was approved by the House on Jan. 26, 2017, and the Senate on Feb. 16, 2017, would let those between the ages of 18 and 21 with a license to carry a concealed firearm carry a concealed firearm while in public places, including schools and universities, so long as they are engaged in lawful activities. The bill requires public universities and colleges to create and comply with a program of firearms training and a method of identifying persons with a valid license. Supporters of the bill argue that it will save lives because people of age would act as a deterrent to crime. Opponents argue that the bill is ineffective and unnecessary because it will not keep guns out of the wrong hands. They 6d1f23a050
